Junior Scientists Participation Fellowship – Rafael Gramage-Doria

Rafael Gramage-Doria received his PhD from the University of Strasbourg (France) with Dr Dominique Matt and Prof. Dominique Armpach. After a postdoctoral fellowship with Prof. Joost N. H. Reek at the University of Amsterdam (Netherlands) and later with Prof. Takashi Ooi at Nagoya University (Japan), he joined the Institute of Chemical Sciences of the University of Rennes (France) as a CNRS senior researcher in 2015, where he obtained his Habilitation diploma (2019). His research activities include transition metal catalysis for fine chemicals and green chemistry applications, C–H bond functionalization, supramolecular and coordination chemistry, and supramolecular and bio-inspired catalysis.
